Your letter to the Chancellor of Justice

The Chancellor of Justice has received your letter in which you on Torsten Nenzen's behalf seek for an independent review of his academic work, which has been failed or refused grading by Karolinska Institutet.

The Chancellor of Justice is appointed by the Swedish Government. A detailed description of the duties of the Chancellor of Justice is set forth in two legal instruments; the Act (1975:1339) concerning the supervision exercised by the Chancellor of Justice and the Ordinance (1975:1345) concerning the duties of the Chancellor of Justice.

The Chancellor of Justice is a Swedish, national supervisory authority, responsible mainly for supervising the lawfulness of the authorities in Sweden. The Chancellor of Justice cannot alter or revoke a decision regarding grading of academic work.

According to the provisions regulating the duties of the Chancellor of Justice, a complaint should be judged by the Chancellor only if the issue gives reason to a closer investigation. On the basis of the information you have presented, the Chancellor has judged that there is no such reason in your case. Thus, the Chancellor will not investigate the case.

On behalf of the Chancellor of Justice and with my best regards

Carin Westerlund
